The fine print:

By completing and signing this form, I signify my willingness to assemble, as convenient, with a group of crusty old men, who because of age and past experience are skeptical of any club which proclaims high ideals and strict rules of attendance. I will be expected to be just as obstinate and unruly as the rest of the gang. I may or may not join in any of the project work as the mood strikes me. I understand that this club's main objective is to enjoy our times together, lend a hand when we can to those less fortunate and to appreciate our differences. That I can live with.
